New Orleans Visitor Safety

As with any destination, we recommend that vacationers and convention attendees practice common sense and do not wander into deserted, non-tourist areas of the city.

Visitors to New Orleans can expect:

- Police patrol on foot as well as Vespa scooters, golf carts, motorcycles, and Segways throughout the French Quarter with special attention to Bourbon Street, Royal Street, Chartres Street, Jackson Square, and parks.

- Police patrol of Convention Center Boulevard via patrol cars, Vespa scooters, Polaris carts, and Segways.
- Mounted officers on horseback every night.
- The permanent staffing of tourist areas is also routinely augmented by supplemental patrols of officers who are assigned on night shifts and weekends.
