

2020 Lee Teng Undergraduate Internship in Accelerator Science & Engineering

June 1 - August 7, 2020*

The Lee Teng Internship is a 10-week summer program at the Fermi National Accelerator Laboratory or Argonne National Laboratory, both near Chicago, IL, open to select students from U.S. universities who have just completed their junior year in physics, engineering, or computer science. Scholars will receive generous stipends, as well as travel and lodging allowances and a full scholarship to attend the two week U.S. Particle Accelerator School, which will be held in Melville, Long Island, NY sponsored by Stony Brook University. *We may be able to accommodate alternative dates for students on the quarter system. Outstanding sophomores may also be considered.

APPLICATION DEADLINE: JANUARY 6, 2020

For further information and to apply:
www.illinoisacceleratorinstitute.org

