

PRINCESS ANNE HAPPENINGS

(Special to The Afro-American Ledger.)

Princess Anne, Md., Feb. 12.— Princess Anne Academy under the leadership of Principal T. H. Kiah is budding into new desires and new life. New desires in increased effort for scholarships and efficiency—new life in additional facilities for work.

The campaign for a new Domestic Science Building is being pushed rapidly on, every student and teacher being organized into companies for this work. Any encouragement materially or otherwise from our well wishers will be greatly appreciated by faculty and students.

Sunday evening at chapel how the school band under the leadership of Prof. John Elliott Smith gave a concert. The Band is planning short trips into the surrounding community. The first trip will be made to Mt. Vernon. Rev. C. T. Covington, pastor, Thursday February 12th.

The Week of Prayer for colleges was fittingly observed Thursday. All school work was suspended. Rev. J. W. Bond, of Pocomoke City, preached the annual sermon from the text: "What is a Man Profited if he gain the Whole World and Lose His Own Soul." The sermon was strong and thoughtful.

Rev. J. H. Nutter dined at the Academy Sunday.

Prof. and Mrs. C. C. Reed have recently leased a cottage in Princess Anne. We wish the newly weds a happy, useful life.

Mrs. John Elliott Smith has recently returned from her home in Florida where she was called to the death-bed of her mother. Mrs. Smith has our deepest sympathy.

The teachers of Somerset county held a very interesting institute Saturday, February 7, at the public school building here.
