

UMES Policy on Protocol Record Retention Requirements for Investigators

UMES requires that investigators maintain research records for approved human subjects research protocols in accordance with federal and Institutional requirements. The data and other records stored must be kept in a secure, protected manner in accordance with the UMES IRB guidance on Record Retention and in accordance with federal agency policies, if applicable.