The Articulation System for Maryland Colleges & Universities
(ARTSYS)

The Articulation System for Maryland Colleges & Universities also known as ARTSYS is a website intended to assist students in transferring from Maryland community colleges to the University System of Maryland institutions and other participating institutions. Students have direct access to information needed to determine their curriculum's transferability to other Maryland institutions. Navigating this site can provide valuable information to facilitate a smooth transfer into a Maryland college or university. The following information and topics can be found:

a. Course to Course Equivalencies
b. Recommended Transfer Programs - Information on Associate to Bachelor's Degrees
c. View Frequently Asked Questions
d. View listing of schools and contacts, as well as finding your major in the State of Maryland

Please consult the website for specific information at http://www.artsys.usmd.edu.
