Summer Sessions Completed

Several graduate students took advantage of courses offered during the summer at the Maryland Center for Career and Technology Education Studies, Salisbury State University, and other colleges. The summer is an excellent time to complete required and elective coursework. Think about taking courses next summer.

Technology Education Leadership Project

The Technology Education Leadership Project (TELP) held a summer institute on the UMES campus from June 25-28, 2001. Joe Depto, Sam Ellis, Patrick Lieb, Larry Ryan, Kevin Webster, and Dan Wood actively participated and provided leadership as the group looked at the National Standards for Technological Literacy, Maryland Technology Education Curricular Framework, and the Maryland State Learning Goals for Math, Science, Social Studies, and English.

Course Schedule for 2001-2002

Enclosed is the graduate course schedule for the Maryland Center for Career and Technology Education Studies for the 2001-2002 school year. A course schedule will be generated for UMES, Southern Maryland, and Western Maryland based on student needs in September. At the present time, CTED 640, Research in Career and Technology Education I will be offered in the fall and CTED 650, Research in Career and Technology Education II will be offered in the spring on the UMES campus for Eastern Shore students. In Western and Southern Maryland, CTED 600, Technology Education Content, Methods and Strategies will be offered in the fall, and CTED 602, Technology Education Instructional Management and Organization in the spring.

Coursework Record

Enclosed is a coursework record sheet that all graduate students should use to keep track of their progress as they go through the master's program. This is used by the graduate program coordinator to keep track of where each graduate student is as they complete their coursework, comprehensive exam, and research paper.
